

English Profile
Lawyer and certified specialist in insurance law
Roman A. Dickmann
LL.M. * Europajurist

As lawyer, certified specialist in insurance law and corporate counsel for an international industry insurance company I settle large losses in business, product and environmental liability. Many claims have an international dimension causing correspondence in English. Especially for the legal controlling in international cases I benefit from my experience as barrister. In addition I am a team leader managing six claims adjusters dealing with claims in southern Germany and Austria.

Before becoming a senior claims adjuster I worked for four years in a medium-sized law firm specialised in liability and insurance law. While practising law full time I studied at Muenster University and graduated with a master's degree in insurance law.

For insurance companies I pursued subrogation claims in court. For a potent German property insurance company I claimed originators of loss in product and tenant liability cases after explosions and tap water damages. Besides I represented motor insurance companies in court defending against claims after oil and hazardous materials accidents.

Insured individuals and companies mandated me in property, general/business liability and legal expenses insurance cases. In addition I regulated motor accident and environmental losses. For medium-sized businesses I dealt with IT-related claims for example after a possible hacking attack on VoIP-infrastructure and the blackout of servers. Deriving from these experiences and a long lasting personal preoccupation I am deeply interested in IT-related insurances and liability.

In the field of IT-security related liability and insurance I do also personal research with several articles and book participations published so far (find executive summaries in German and English to download on the homepage). My focus is on IT-related product liability (especially IoT), coverage under the German Insurance Federation's model terms for cyber insurance and the liability following data leakage. Participating in a project on the legal status quo of IT-security research I have written two sections in a whitepaper published in November 2021. For more information and the whitepaper as a PDF please reach out to <https://www.sec4research.de>.

Especially in those fields I give lectures and presentations. Regularly I offer classes with the German Insurance Academy for industrial liability and environmental insurance.

Having served in voluntary fire brigades and emergency rescue I gained some expertise in the legal field dealing with the administrative, medical and technical surroundings. Today I am a member of the Frankfurt emergency pastoral service.

If You are interested in my legal service or in a research collaboration please contact me by phone or via email (kontakt(at)radickmann.de).

Yours sincerely
Roman A. Dickmann